10 DAYS THAT SHOOK THE WORLD The Centennial Decade

Herring Cove Beach Bathhouse 9/28-10/7/2012

A reflection on time, climate, impermanence and
Provincetown's cultural legacy...

INSTALLATIONS

BATHHOUSE INSTALLATIONS open daily from Noon to 10:00 pm daily.

The Lifeguard Lounge

Socialize in this gathering place for lifeguards while off duty.

FIRE ON THE BEACH

Daily at dusk - All invited! Refreshments welcome.

Bathhouse Benchmarks

Jay Critchley, Provincetown
4 totems pay homage to Bathhouse iconic structure before its demise.

Here's Wishing You the Way

Maryalice Johnston (Provincetown) & Vicky Tomayko (Truro)

A cacophony of visual imagery enveloped within it's own net of natural wonder.

Separation & Shipwrecked

Tim Winn & Zehra Khan, Provincetown

Separation: is the surreal glimpse of four giraffes trapped in the bathhouse, unable to reach one another. Shipwrecked: A reminder of the harsh circumstance and nautical dangers early explorers faced when crossing the Atlantic.

Mud Bath, on the beach

Wendelin Glatzel, Truro

Rituals around bathing, covering oneself with mud, letting it dry and washing it off, have been an age old practice to rejuvenate the body and simply to have fun.

Palace of Shadows

Kevin Cotter, Provincetown

A voice, a ghost who meshes with and has grown weathered as has the building.

Roost

Jennifer Hicks, Boston

Experience the empty nest is to remember the path of life, home and its constant transformation.

The Cape Cod National Seashore is hosting a multi-media exhibitions at the Herring Cove Beach Bathhouse before its demolition. We are thrilled to offer this unprecedented opportunity to the community to occupy this iconic structure before it is wiped away, on its last days, as the sea moves in! Please join us!

Water Feature

Nathan Butera and Frank Vasello

This piece is about transforming a utilitarian and often unpleasant space into a place of beauty and peace.

I Am Now. I Am Provincetown: Homage to 'Art-Breaking' Works of Staggering Genius by Provincetown Artists

Joe Davis & Johnny Kapple, Kingston, MA
Impermanence, time, and Provincetown's cultural legacy. It was Eugene O'Neill who pointed out that, "The past is the present, isn't it? It's the future too."

Message on a Bottle

Dorothy Palanza, Provincetown & NYC

Ana Ruiz, Paloma Hobart, and Francesca Teloni
Over the last 50 years the use of plastic has risen from negligible amounts at the beginning of the 50's when this structure was built to massive usage today.

Sparky, the Transparent Juvenile Roundbelly Cowfish

Eva Marie Lansberry

A delightful inflatable sculpture. Nearly transparent, one can almost see the story of what he had for dinner and how it gave him indigestion.

The Community Labyrinth and Silent Meditation for Peace Art Planet

Organized by Bill Docker, Tom Stearns and Connie Hatch ~ An opportunity for reflection, quietude and meditation.

No Dumping

Greta Ribb and Nathan Steward

A struggle between decay and the romanticized past. Enjoy all the refuse falling apart around you. Do you recognize the smell?

PROVINCELANTIS - The Lost Bathhouse Civilization

Jessica Teffer, Eastham

Like Atlantis before it, Provincelantis has sunk beneath the sea... Leave your mark before the entire town is lost to the sea!

Meditations On Time and Place:

The Hot Dog Stand Pinhole Camera

Marian Roth, Provincetown

Room sized pinhole camera we will be able to see what the building may have seen throughout its many years.

Provincetown Playhouse - Street Time/Overlap, 2012

Video/projection. 20-30 minute loop

Debbie Nadolney, Denise Petrizzo

Bridging the flow of ideas and creative energy between Provincetown and New York City.

Sail boats only are used as any noise frightens the whale

Jay Critchley, Provincetown

This multi-media installation features a black and white silent movie documenting one of the last voyages of the whaling ship, Viola, 1917.

Concession Stand

Paul Wirhun

Loss is inherent in the process of the art-making, reflecting how the loss of beach to erosion is inherent in the cycles of nature.

EEE

Jay Critchley, Provincetown

Is the First Aid room prepared for the present and future environmental dangers and unleashed outbreaks?

Might ocean waves washing away the beach wash us clean?

The Last Years

Jane Paradise, Orleans

Photographs from the last 5+ years of Herring Cove Bathhouse, Shed, and Concession stand.

BLUE ROOM

Ewa Nogiec, N. Truro and Provincetown and René Lamadrid, N. Truro

Experience the physicality of moving through space, through and under and emerge free standing in (w)hole.
